

Foreword

Martin Tyas

Prof. Martin Tyas

General practitioners and new academic authors are especially invited to submit manuscripts. The journal is not peer-reviewed, except to the extent noted on the first page. This provides an opportunity to rapidly bring new results of minimum intervention research and clinical outcomes to a wide audience.

This first issue contains a range of articles covering reviews, clinical research, laboratory research and developments in technology. We hope that you find this and future issues a valuable resource.

M. Tyas

On behalf of the editors, welcome to the first issue of the 'Journal of Minimum Intervention in Dentistry'. This exciting new initiative has been conceived and established by the Publishing Director, Dr Steffen Mickenautsch as an on-line journal with the aim of publishing clinical and basic science research articles in the area of minimum intervention dentistry in the management of caries.